About Chris Trapper

CHRIS TRAPPER began his career as the front man for late-90's alternative rock band The Push Stars (Capitol Records). As a modern day singer /songwriter, Chris is most known for his song This Time, the #1 selling song on the Grammy nominated soundtrack for AUGUST RUSH (Robin Williams, Jonathan Rhys Meyers /Warner Bros Pictures). Chris Trapper's music can best be described as lyrically driven roots-pop with a knack for telling everyday stories filled with extra-ordinary characters.

"It's an incredibly rare musician, particularly in the world of popular music, who is able to forge a career based on quiet dignity and steadfast integrity."

The Buffalo News

The New York Times calls his work "classic pop perfection."
